Jury Absolves Pair In Death At Whitehall

Funeral Services For Victim Will Be Saturday

A coroner's jury on Thursday evening found that George Smith, 44, came to his death in an unavoidable accident as a result of being hit by an automobile.

Smith, a seasonally-employed laborer for the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, was found dead beside the highway about 200 yards east of Whitehall resort, Monday evening.

He was found by F. Gibson, Edmond Harvey and John Freeman, who reside in a cabin in the vicinity, when they went to investigate the cause of a loud crash which they heard in the direction of the highway, as though some passing car had hit, perhaps, a deer.

As the trio reached the scene, they saw a truck turning around a short distance up the highway and when the truck reached the scene it proved to be a machine loaded with supplies for the Sacramento Box Company at China Flat, driven by Rodney Rogers with Leroy Sly riding beside him.

Dr. A. A. McKinnon testified before the inquest that Smith did not live but a few minutes after being hit and that he died from a torn left lung and a ruptured liver. The doctor was unable to tell whether the man had been hit while standing or whether he had been hit while lying in the road.

Rogers told the jury the man's body loomed in front of the car suddenly and was first seen by him at a distance of about fifteen feet, laying in the roadway. Rodney said the car had passed over the man's legs.

There was evidence, by several witnesses, that Smith had been drinking and whether he could have fallen in a (Continued on page 2)

Snowline CCC camp is composed chiefly of enrollees from El Dorado, Sacramento, Calaveras and Amador Counties and was established in its present location in 1934.

The camp has an excellent record in athletics and in camp work activities and was, last year, distinguished by being chosen the model camp of the Northern California division.

WAR CONGRESS MET 20 YEARS AGO TODAY; SCENE RECALLED

President Wilson Addressed Houses Jointly And Called For Support On Resolution To Undertake Hostilities

By EDWARD W. LEWIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Twenty years ago today President Woodrow Wilson delivered at a special session of Congress his stirring war message which sent the United States into the World War.

Before a joint session of House and Senate—galleries of the House packed with distinguished guests—the President called on Congress to support him in his stand for war.

"The world must be made safe for democracy," he said.

Four days later the joint resolution formally sending America to war

Historic Words

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Wilson's memorial words, so often repeated, in his War Message to Congress on April 2, 1917:

"We are now about to accept the gage of battle with this natural foe to liberty and shall, if necessary, spend the whole force of the nation to check and nullify its pretensions and its power. We are glad, now that we see the facts with no veil of false pretense about them, to fight thus for the ultimate peace of the world and for the liberation of its peoples, the German peoples, included; for the rights of all nations great and small and the privilege of men everywhere to choose their way of life and of obedience."

"The world must be made safe for democracy. Its peace must be planted upon the trusted foundations of political liberty."

NAZI ZEPPELIN MAY FLOAT OVER BRIDGES AT BAY

SAN FRANCISCO—The giant German airship Hindenburg may visit San Francisco to participate in the ceremonies opening the Golden Gate Bridge and Fiesta on May 28.

This became known today as Mayor Rossi dispatched letters to Secretary of the Navy, Swanson and Secretary of War, Woodring, asking the government's formal authorization for the Hindenburg to use the mooring mast at Moffett Field, Sunnyvale, 40 miles south of here.

The mayor's action followed correspondence with Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the airship, who disclosed that the Hindenburg would arrive at Lakehurst, N. J., late in May to inaugurate summer service between Germany and the United States.

If necessary arrangements can be carried out, it is planned to have the Hindenburg leave Lakehurst on May 26 and arrive the following day at Sunnyvale.

Mr. and Mrs. U. C. Meyers were hosts at their home Thursday evening at a social gathering of members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the auxiliary.

against "the Imperial German government" was approved by the two houses.

At noon on April 2 Senate and House met to organize. The special session had been called by the President after sinking of three vessels with Americans on board in late March had convinced him that war was the only course.

The House, with Republicans and Democrats closely divided had delays in organizing. Speaker Champ Clark was elected 217 to 213. Similar roll calls were forced on other major posts including that of House clerk, Joseph Sinnott, doorkeeper of the present House, was chosen for that post then.

Long before the President arrived in the House chamber—8:36 p. m., according to the congressional record—galleries and all floor space were packed.

Diplomats of the allied nations sat in the gallery. Edged in front of the speaker's dais were members of the cabinet. On the dais were Champ Clark and Vice President Thomas R. Marshall.

Outside the capitol as the hour approached for the President's arrival a steady April rain was falling. Windows of the capitol had been thrown open. The humidity was that of mid-summer.

The capitol dome was flooded for the first time with searchlights. The reflection shimmered on the rain-covered plaza.

MINERS, AUTO UNIONS STRIKE

500,000 Idle; Detroit Center Of Motors "Sit-Down"

By UNITED PRESS

More than 500,000 workers waited in idleness today pending settlement of labor controversies.

Principal disputes centered in the automobile and soft coal industries.

More than 400,000 soft coal miners stood by in technical strike, hopeful that settlement of contract negotiations between the United Mine Workers union and coal operators might be achieved shortly.

The soft coal contract expired at midnight, March 31. Mines have been idle since that hour. Yesterday was a holiday—"John L. Lewis Day"—in the coal fields. But today's stoppage of work was directly attributable to the failure to agree on a new contract. Contract negotiators said they had narrowed disagreement to a single point—a union demand for time and a half pay for overtime work.

The strife torn automobile industry was again today the center of critical disturbances which threw 100,000 men out of work. Sit-downs and walkouts afflicted General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson and Reo auto plants.

Swift Berry Attends Forestry Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Swift Berry left Thursday for Washington, D. C., where Mr. Berry, manager of the Michigan-California Lumber Company, will spend several days attending a convention of the American Association of Foresters. They expect to return to El Dorado County about April 14th.

A certificate filed Friday with the recorder notes the birth on March 30 of a son, Marvin Eldon Larsen, to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Larsen of Camino.

El Dorado County became the administrative center for farmers of Amador, Alpine and Calaveras Counties in the Agricultural Conservation program Friday when County Association Secretary B. E. Haslam began the fulfillment of a project for consolidation as outlined on Thursday by Ralph Eason, on a visit to Placerville.

Mr. Eason is Northern California regional director for the Agricultural Conservation program and was here on Thursday in conference with Mr. Haslam and Farm Advisor Ivan W. Lilley and determined upon the setting up of a four-county organization with headquarters in Placerville, in the interests of administrative economy.

WPA STRIKE AT S. F. LAGGING

Scheduled "Walk-Out" Of 30,000 Fails To Materialize

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Pickets' cars, manned by members of the Workers' Alliance, sped to San Francisco Bay area WPA projects today in an effort to spread the strike which has crippled work relief in San Francisco and Alameda Counties.

Police dispersed 150 pickets from the Crocker-Amazon WPA project. More than 100 men employed on the project went to work without delay, police indicated.

Available reports indicated approximately 4000 workers had quit their jobs. Union leaders had estimated before the walkout that the strike call would affect 30,000.

Walter P. Koettitz, Alameda County WPA director, reported the strike apparently was more effective in the East Bay area. He said 34 of 320 projects were shut down with 2795 employees out of 10,250, off the jobs.

SUPERVISOR IS SPEAKER BEFORE SUMMIT CENTER

Supervisor Charles E. Green of the Second District, was the speaker at Thursday night's meeting of the Summit Farm Center, discussing the costs of road construction and maintenance.

Supervisor Green's remarks were supplemented by remarks on the same subject by Lyman A. Bender, whom Mr. Green succeeded in office.

Farm Advisor Ivan Lilley spoke and several reels of motion pictures were shown. A light luncheon was served at the close of the meeting.

One train was on a viaduct near Poupard's junction outside the station, awaiting a signal to go ahead. The second train, speeding in from Coulsdon, south of London, crashed into it.

9 FT. OF SNOW AT LUMBERYARD

Forest Aides Abandon Return Across Country

Assistant Forester A. N. Weber and Junior Forester Bert Parsons returned early Friday (12:30 a. m. to be exact), from a three-day snow survey trip to Lumberyard ranger station where they found 113 inches of snow with a 40 per cent water content.

The two had thought they might return from Lumberyard over the trail which would bring them through China Flat but after spending almost thirteen hours Tuesday in traversing the thirteen miles between Dew-Drop Inn and Lumberyard ranger station, they abandoned the cross country tour.

Refreshed by a few hours of rest Friday morning, they reported the snow was "miserable to ski on" and that when they reached Lumberyard Tuesday night and saw seven to nine feet of snow piled on the buildings of the station, they immediately set to work with shovels to clear the buildings.

Weber reported that there was a seven by ten by about twelve foot cube of snow resting on the edge of the station warehouse and when they tipped it off, the release of the weight on the roof of the building was such as to cause the roof to spring up after the fashion of a spring board, tossing Mr. Weber into the snow bank.

While at Lumberyard they also visited the Ellis place in the Mokelumne Canyon, taking snow measurements.

COAST LEAGUE OPENS SEASON

Portland, Seals Gain New Players From Majors

By JAMES S. SHEEHY

United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Anticipated, needed help from the majors came to two Pacific Coast League baseball clubs today to add further zest to the 1937 race, which starts tomorrow in four California cities with Seattle at Sacramento.

The Portland Beavers chortled over word that Sailor Bill Posedel, key pitcher in winning the 1936 championship, will be back soon from Cincinnati.

At Seals' Stadium there was a similar tonic of assurance when the men, managed by Lefty O'Doul, heard that southpaw Wes Flowers would be the final payment from the Chicago Cubs for outfielder Joe Marty.

Oakland expect pitching aid soon from the world champions and Manager Truck Hannah of Los Angeles will ask the Chicago Cubs for reinforcements.

Sacramento may be the hottest surprise in the league, but Manager Bill Kilfler will rest much better during the coming oven valley days when the St. Louis Cardinals send additional tried hands. The Seals believe they have the league's long range hitter in Nick Cullop, former over-the-wall batsman of the American Association.

Indications were that if fair weather prevails the gate at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento will gross about 40,000 paid admissions—nearly a third more than attended last year's openers.

New Grand Jury For San Francisco Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Thirty new prospective grand jurymen will be selected today to carry on the investigation of San Francisco's muddled police graft scandal, sidetracked by a series of ousters, disqualifications, resignations and official "shadow boxing."

Superior Judge James G. Conlan, chosen to succeed presiding Judge George Steiger as grand jury director, announced the new list would be drawn from the present grand jury panel of 137. If a new jury cannot be obtained from that roster, a new panel will be called.

Seibert Gandy came up Thursday evening to spend a week's vacation at home.

Three Cougars battled their way successfully through the first round of matches last night and Roy Petrageilo drew a bye.

Paul Waller took a decision from John Murray of Clemenson, in the 125-pound class and Bob Bates sprung a surprise by taking the measure of Jack Kneipp of Duke in the 135-pound division. ### GARRISON ACT PASSES HOUSE

Measure, Amended, Is Sent To Senate For Approval

By GEORGE E. HELMER

United Press Staff Correspondent
SACRAMENTO (UP)—The first major accomplishment of the 52nd legislature was registered today as the Garrison Revenue Bond bill returned to the Senate for concurrence before being dispatched to the governor.

Designed to permit municipalities to issue revenue bonds, on a majority vote of the people, to finance the construction or acquisition of nearly every type of public utility, the Garrison measure sailed through the Assembly 65 to 10, after a brief debate. Because the Lower House amended it to remove communication facilities from the list of utilities which may be acquired, the bill had to be returned to the Senate.

There was no indication whether the governor would sign or veto the measure. When it reaches him, he will have 10 days to act upon it.

Hawaii Vacation Trip Nears End

Following about a month in Hawaii, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Reckers and Miss Florence Reckers are spending a few days at San Francisco, prior to returning to Placerville. They are expected home Saturday.

During their absence, the doctor's office in the O'Donnell Building has been remodeled and re-equipped in preparation for his return to his practice about Monday.

A son, Leland Joseph DeFehr, was born on March 28 to Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph DeFehr of Camino, according to a certificate of record Friday at the courthouse.

BRITISH ARMY MAPS PAGEANT

Coronation Tatto At Aldershot To Be Spectacle

By DAN ROGERS

United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—The British army will present at Aldershot next June the greatest military pageant ever staged—the Coronation Tattoo proclaiming allegiance to and affection for the new King.

Incidentally, military authorities confidently hope that this last word in flag-waving will give needed stimulation to recruiting.

The tattoo is an annual affair to benefit army charities. Last year more than 5,000 troops in military uniforms of all the ages performed before 486,500 spectators. This year, in honor of the Coronation, the tattoo will be on a much more elaborate scale and already advance sale of tickets is more than double this time last year.

A physical training display will be included as the army's contribution to the national "keep fit" campaign. Highlanders will swish their plaid kilts and lift bare knees high behind massed bands of bagpipes. Evolutions with lanterns will provide novel lighting effects of beauty.

The finale will be a royal pageant on a grand scale, introducing the banners and royal body guards of the kings and queens of England since William the I.

Grandstands seating 80,000 persons have been built around the huge arena. Eight performances will be held, on June 10, 11, 12 and 15-19 inclusive.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

PINEHURST, N. C. (UP)—The little girl with the taffy hair knocked off her third big name in succession on April Fool's day, but it was no joke.

And neither is she. And when I say "she," I mean Virginia Guilfoile, the 19-year-old Syracuse University sophomore who, playing in her second decent tournament, has reached the final round for the second time.

That's a pretty decent average. Two times to the post, two times to the championship final. She plays Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page for the women's North and South Silver Salad Bowl today, and even such a sound critic of the fairways as Donald Ross of Carnoustie, St. Andrews, and everywhere else that golf is played, thinks she can't miss.

"I never saw her until she played in this tournament," Donald said in his flawless burr, "but if she isn't a coming champion, then I never saw one. Where do you suppose she's been hiding all these years? The child is positively the finest putter in the world."

Well, Donald, here's all I know about the new sensation of women's golf. That she's 19 and in her second year at Syracuse. I've told you already. She is not going to allow her golfing career to interfere with her schooling. From here she will return to Syracuse, with every intention of getting her degree. She has never had a professional lesson. She has been playing golf for five years, and her tutor has been her father, Oscar Guilfoile, Syracuse business man who dabbles in invention. Made most of his money, I hear, with a device for holding candles securely in whatever place candles are securely held. Mister Guilfoile shoots a pretty good game himself, being capable of 73 or better when the Nassau stakes are interesting.

Miss Guilfoile's first major tournament was the one at White Sulphur Springs last year. She made the finals, but was unmercifully beaten by Patty Berg. The score was something like 12 and 10.

This is her second stab at the important sisters of the fairway and she's been doing alright. Her first victim was Bernice Wall, the Oshkosh veteran, who was a 5 to 1 favorite over the unknown youngster. Wednesday she scored what must have been the major upset of the winter season by ousting Kathryn Hemphill the long-driving South Carolinian who twice whipped Patty Berg on the Grapefruit circuit. And yesterday, with an amazed gallery of 500 or more tagging her heels, she licked Jean Bauer 4 and 3. Against Miss Hemphill she shot the last 15 holes in three under fours to come in with a 73, just one stroke over men's par. And Miss Bauer had her two down to the fourth, but she kept the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth to go two up, and take a lead that never was diminished.

Her game is a neat mixture of everything nice. She's slight, but her drives are consistently 200 or better. Her irons and fairway woods, while not particularly long, are sure as taxes.

And her putter—Huh! Always up, always in.

A few critics were inclined to view the college girl as a flash in the pan. But they were in the strict minority. Most of those who have seen Miss Guilfoile say it is impossible for anyone with her soundness of swing and temperament (she plays with the nonchalance of a Hagen in skirts) to fade.

of soldiers' feet, the rumbling of the artillery caissons and the clinking of cavalry sabres.

The noise carried into the chamber as the President and his escort of artillery, cavalry and infantry companies came onto the plaza.

William Tyler Page, Republican clerk of the House at that time, said applause was deafening as the President entered the chamber.

"About the middle of the message there was a roll of thunder," said Page. "People looked about nervously. The tense atmosphere seemed to give everyone the jitters."

"Later on during the message there was a rumbling sound overhead. Mr. Wilson stopped for a moment and people held their breath. Some of us thought that maybe a bomb had been dropped."

"We found out later that a secret serviceman—and there were scores scattered through the capitol—had gone above the chamber and attempted to cross one of the beams of the skylight. He lost his balance but caught a steel support, which shook with a rumbling noise.

"If he hadn't caught the support he would have fallen through the glass into the House."

Page said when the President completed his message he was extremely pale and said eyed.

"There was very little conversation afterward," said Page. "Everyone seemed subdued by the seriousness of the hour."

The President in his war message, which took over half an hour to deliver, said:

"Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable when the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its peoples, and the menace to that peace and freedom lies in the existence of autocratic governments backed by organized force which is controlled wholly by their will, not by the will of their people."

Later in his message he said that "A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations."

As he neared the end he said: "It is a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful people into war, into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars, civilization itself seeming to be in the balance."

back strong and had Williams groggy at the bell.

The favored Duke University team suffered two reverses in the defeat of Kneipp and Al Mann but Ray Matulewicz and Danny Farrar, 1936 light heavyweight and welterweight champions respectively looked to be the class of the tournament thus far and prevailing choices to win championships.

Matulewicz, fighting as a 160-pounder, decisively won Leon Gray, Arizona in the most spectacular battle of the night while Farrar won over Andy Wallstrum, California, on a technical knockout in the second round.

"Tiny" Cervelli, the University of San Francisco "man-mountain" won the final bout of the night with a decision over Frederick Cramer, Virginia, to close the first round of the tournament with the crowd on its feet roaring at the final bell.

LINCOLN-ZEPHYR PRODUCTION IS 6 MONTHS AHEAD

DETROIT—Lincoln-Zephyr production by Lincoln Motor Company for the current season, today reached a total of 15,500, equalling, in less than six months, total production of the 1936 series cars, it was announced.

So completely unnoticed was the car when it came off the final assembly line that clerks at the Lincoln plant had to delve into their records to reveal the identity of the car bearing motor number 31,000. It proved to be a three-passenger coupe, finished in blue, and consigned to the Garden City Motor Company, Lancaster, Ja.

Incidentally, the new coupe has met with such a reception by the public since its introduction that its sales now represent 25 per cent of all Lincoln-Zephyr sales, it was said. Despite increased production, the factory, it was explained, has not been able to cut down the backlog of orders for this type.

Reports from dealers throughout the country, tabulated today, showed that Lincoln-Zephyr retail deliveries for March would set a new monthly record since the introduction of the car in October, 1935.

BANK LAUNCHES LENDING PLAN

Modernization May Be Arranged Despite FMA Expiration

The Bank of America will continue to make modernization loans under terms similar to those established by Title I of the National Housing Act despite the expiration at midnight, Wednesday night of that section of the act, L. M. Giannini, president of the bank, announced today.

Under the new plan, home-owners may borrow up to $1,000 for modernization purposes, larger amounts being subject to the bank's regular terms. Repayment of balances up to $500 may be extended over a period of two years and amounts up to $1,000 over a three-year period.

"Since the enactment of Title I in June, 1934," Giannini said, "Bank of America has loaned to more than 100,000 persons a total of approximately $36,000,000. Defaults on loans made under the plan have been negligible and have been fully covered by insurance which was provided by Title I of the N.H.A. As a substitute for this insurance the bank will set aside from interest received on modernization loans an amount sufficient to cover the maximum losses possible under the new plan.

"Modernization under Title I has been a stimulus to business far in excess of the actual amount that has been advanced to borrowers. It is estimated that for every dollar a home-owner borrows, he expends an additional 50c to $1, so that bank credit for home modernization has been a substantially greater stimulus to busi-

CONVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETIES HELD

Never before in the history of tuberculosis work in this state has so much interest been expressed in the annual meeting of the California Tuberculosis Association as has been shown in the present meeting to be held in Riverside, a three-day meeting ending Saturday. Practically every tuberculosis worker and physician interested in tuberculosis will gather to attend the sessions covering every aspect of tuberculosis control and treatment.

An outstanding feature of the meeting will be a symposium on silicosis, a subject of great importance to California mining and other industries, to be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Because of the close relationship of silicosis and tuberculosis, and its importance as an industrial hazard, the association has brought from the east three nationally known authorities on silicosis to conduct the symposium. These speakers are:

Dr. Leroy U. Gardner, director of the Saranac laboratory for the study of tuberculosis, Saranac Lake, N. Y., Dr. A. J. Lanza, assistant medical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, N. Y., and Dr. R. R. Sayers, medical officer in charge of the office of Industrial Hygiene and Sanitation, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

ness than the figures indicate.

"Loans under Title I have not only increased employment but, because of the general rise in prices and rents, have proved sound investments for borrowers. Recognizing the economic benefits that have accrued from the National Housing Act, Bank of America wishes to do all that it can to assure their continuance."
